Vasilii Vladimirovich

Dear Vasilii Vladimirovich,

The Editorial Board and the Editors of the journal "Uspekhi Khimii" convey to you their heartfelt greetings on the occasion of your seventieth birthday.

The School of Modern Synthetic Chemistry of Polymers which you founded has become well known and is widely recognised in the scientific world. Your research into the formation reactions of polymers, polycondensation processes, the inter-relation between the structure and properties of polymers, and the synthesis of thermostable polymers has made a great contribution to the chemistry of macromolecular compounds. Your brilliant talent, goodwill, high principle, and your attractive, humane personality have gained you the love and respect of many members of the scientific community. As a scientist with world-wide renown and a Laureate of State Prizes, you have devoted much time to scientific-organisational activities and the teaching and training of scientific cadres.

We wish you dear Vasilii Vladimirovich good health, new creative successes, and many years of fruitful scientific activity!
